In January, as an SDE intern for DyfoLabs, I was assigned to redesign the company's website.

This is where I created an e-commerce website and portfolio from scratch for the company.

As a first step, I designed the website with UX/UI components that helped me expedite the process. I was able to complete the whole process in just two months.

Front-end code consisted of HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and Python, while back-end code consisted of Python and SQL and libraries were used for adding 3D and animation to the website.

The website consists of more than twenty different pages, with a homepage that introduces the company and demo pages that show how the product works, and other pages that explain more about the company and contact information, as well as a shopping cart for purchasing goods
